

This is a discussion note about complementarity between, and possible convergence of, PDE and current work on Open Banking. It was written - in March 2020 - to summarise certain conversations with people working for the Open Banking Implementation Entity. Note that the term 'User Control of Data' is beginning to replace PDE, since it seems better to describe the problem we are trying to fix, rather than the solution.